The Federal Parity Law requires most insurers to cover illnesses of the brain, such as depression or addiction, no more restrictively than illnesses of the body, such as diabetes or cancer. If you or a loved one are being denied coverage, stand up for your rights. Visit DontDenyMe.org.
You can’t deny my husband’s addiction care.

The Federal Parity Law requires most insurers to cover illnesses of the brain, such as depression or addiction, no more restrictively than illnesses of the body, such as diabetes or cancer. If you or a loved one are being denied coverage, stand up for your rights. Visit DontDenyMe.org.
You can’t deny my daughter’s eating disorder treatment.

The Federal Parity Law requires most insurers to cover illnesses of the brain, such as depression or addiction, no more restrictively than illnesses of the body, such as diabetes or cancer. If you or a loved one are being denied coverage, stand up for your rights. Visit DontDenyMe.org.